Worksheet 1: Two Minute Pitch to Investors

1. Introduction. Begin by introducing yourself. One sentence.

2. Your solution. What does your business do? "Airbnb allows homeowners to rent their empty rooms."

It allows, individuals, ~~independent~~ journalists & news organizations to clearly understand in a proactive manner what the ~~nature of the~~ imagery they are viewing is, captured or created, "concocted?"

3. The problem you are targeting. What is the unmet need, market gap, or pain point you are responding to?

Misinformation whether manipulated, ~~or~~ manufactured, or unintended

4. Your value and differentiator: Highlight what sets your solution apart from competitors, including traction (users, sales, growth, etc.).

proactive capture validation rather than retroactive "expert analysis"

Systems design creates network effect. Launch & initial traction will be the challenge, not sustainable users & growth

5. How big is your market? "Last year, 532M travelers booked rooms online."

As of late 2025 there is ~5.6billion users on social media sifting through endless imagery. Also 100's of millions if not billions of users access journalistic ~~photo~~ content all across the internet making outside of social media

6. How do you make money? This is your revenue model. "We take a 10% commission on every transaction."

7. Team: What is your expertise and background relating to this business?

8. Your Ask: End with a clear ask or call to action. How much are you asking for? What will it be used for? What will it allow you to do?

Worksheet 2: Two Minute Pitch to Banks and Lenders

1. Introduction: Begin by introducing yourself and your company. One sentence.

2. Solution. What does your business do? Describe your offering in simple, concrete terms.
   Example: "SummitCare provides in-home support services for seniors in Missoula."

3. The need you are targeting. What is the demonstrated demand or community gap your business fills?
   Example: "There is a shortage of reliable home-care providers, and we already have 32 prospective clients on a waitlist."

4. Your value and reliability: Highlight what makes your business stable, credible, and low-risk. This includes contracts, letters of intent, referral partners, or operational advantages.
   Example: "We have three referral agreements and one LOI representing 12–15 new clients per month."

5. Your revenue predictability: Explain what makes your cash flow dependable. You may reference contracted clients, repeat business, or stable pricing.
   Example: "We bill weekly for services, with payment received within 7 days and no accounts-receivable risk."

6. How you will repay the loan: This is your financial model. State your projected revenue, breakeven point, or DSCR (Debt Service Coverage Ratio).
   Example: "Based on contracted clients, we project monthly revenue of $38,000 and a first-year DSCR of 1.8."

7. Team: What expertise or operational experience increases lender confidence?
   Example: "Our leadership team brings 12 years of healthcare operations experience, plus compliance and scheduling expertise."

8. Your Ask: End with a clear funding request. How much are you asking for? What will the funds be used for? How will this enable stable cash flow to support repayment?
   Example: "We are requesting a $150,000 term loan for equipment, payroll, and working capital to activate contracted demand and begin generating revenue within 90 days."
